

Desk Robot

A compact educational robot designed for desktop use and controlled through a Wi-Fi-based mobile web interface. The robot provides a practical platform for learning robotics, embedded systems, wireless communication, and programming concepts. It is particularly useful for student training, demonstrations, and hands-on experimentation.